

Adding a page to the Wiki

Adding different pages to your wiki allows each page to have specific content.

Target Audience: Teachers adding to their wiki

Prerequisite: Already created a wiki account

By the end of this tutorial you will be able to:

- Adding pages to a wiki

The screenshot displays a wiki interface with a top navigation bar containing 'Members', 'Projects', 'Events', 'Assessment', and 'Settings'. Below this is a secondary toolbar with icons for a user profile, document, link, comment, project, and calendar. A large blue arrow points to the document icon in this toolbar. On the right side, a dropdown menu is open, showing options for 'Home', 'Pages', and 'Changes', with another blue arrow pointing to the 'Pages' option. The main content area features a 'Welcome to your Classroom!' message with a list of tips: 'Announce, schedule, and discuss in your newsfeed at the bottom of this page.', 'Create projects -- with optional start and end dates -- for assignments and topic areas.', 'Add pages, files, and more from the top right of every page.', and 'Assess student engagement in real time.' Below the message are two sections: 'Welcome to your Classroom - Jul 01 2013' and 'Introductions', each with a text input field and a user icon.

When you create a wiki, you'll want to add pages for different content. There are two places to begin. By clicking either of the icons that look like pages will give you a new page.

Welcome to Your Classroom!

Your Wikispaces Classroom is like the wiki you know and love with a few neat new tricks:

- Announce, schedule, and discuss in your newsfeed at the bottom of this page.
- Create projects -- with optional start and end dates -- for assignments and topic areas.
- Add pages, files, and more from the top right of every page.
- Assess student engagement in real time.

Click edit at the top right of this section to add your own welcome message and information about your class.
